1. Purpose

To set forth expectations and requirements for those who engage in remote work at Premier and to establish the confidentiality, physical and logical security requirements for remote work.

2. Scope

All employees of Premier, Inc. and its subsidiaries ("Premier").

3. Definitions

Premier Information – Includes Premier Internal Information and Premier Restricted Information that may be accessed, used and disclosed by Premier workforce members and third parties as authorized, but not to the public. Premier Information includes documents, materials, records and electronic data processed, stored or maintained in any manner in Premier's Information Security Management System and deemed proprietary by Premier or held in confidence by Premier for a Premier customer. Such information may include intellectual property, trade secrets, customer data and information, and is considered confidential in nature, and subject to protection under Premier policies.

Premier Internal Information – Consists of information and documents, processed, stored or maintained by Premier that may be accessed, used and disclosed by Premier workforce members and authorized third parties to perform job related services or for general work-related information. Examples of Premier Internal Information include, but are not limited to, organizational charts, policies and procedures, project information and restricted customer/member listings.

Premier Restricted Information – Consists of information that is sensitive or private, of high value to Premier and/or its customers, requires tight controls over distribution, and is intended for use by a limited number of identified internal or external individuals (subject to strict confidentiality agreement or other agreement) expressly authorized by the owner of the information or document. Restricted Information must be controlled from creation to destruction and will be granted only to those authorized persons who require such access in order to perform their job, or those individuals permitted by law. Examples of Restricted Information include but are not limited to: Premier proprietary information and intellectual property (IP), Personally Identifiable Information (PII), Payment Card Information (PCI), Protected Health Information (PHI), and Authentication Information.

POLICY

Remote Work Guidelines

1. A remote work arrangement may be available to employees on a case-by-case basis depending on the following factors:
 - 1.1 A supervisor approves of the remote working arrangement in coordination with Human Resources.
 - 1.2 The proposed work location adheres to IT and security requirements.
 - 1.3 The job can be performed away from the primary work site.
 - 1.4 Job responsibilities do not require regular in-person contact.
 - 1.5 An employee has sufficient equipment, materials and resources to perform the essential functions of his/her job.
 - 1.6 An employee demonstrates success in a remote working environment.
2. Employees approved for remote work perform essentially the same work that they would at a Premier work site in accordance with the same performance expectations and other agreed-upon terms.
3. Working arrangements are assessed on an ongoing basis to ensure alignment with Premier's business needs. No employee is entitled to or guaranteed the opportunity to work remotely.

Employee Responsibilities

4. Employees must comply with these guidelines as a condition of remote work:
 - 4.1 Establish a suitable working environment that allows productive and distraction-free work to be performed using secure, Premier-owned/managed and approved equipment.
 - 4.2 Maintain all Premier property and return such property in good condition promptly upon request.
 - 4.3 Comply with all applicable Premier policies and procedures.
 - 4.4 Maintain accessibility, productivity and responsiveness to the same level as would be expected when working on-site during regular business hours.
 - 4.5 Attend and participate in meetings using appropriate media (e.g., phone, videoconference, etc.).
 - 4.6 Report and record inability to work due to illness or vacation in accordance with Premier policy.
 - 4.7 Work normal business hours unless alternative arrangements have been approved by management. Non-exempt employees must refrain from working overtime unless approved in advance by management.
 - 4.8 If required by an employee's job classification or role, maintain accurate time records (e.g., hours worked, jobs performed, etc.) in the form requested by management.
 - 4.9 Maintain a safe working environment and report work-related injuries to Premier immediately. Premier assumes no liability for damages to employee property as a result of remote work.

Work Location Requirements

5. Remote employees are approved to work remotely at the location agreed upon at hire or at the time they transition to a remote work arrangement.
6. Employees must seek management approval before making changes to their regular work location lasting five (5) days or more.
7. Management is responsible for seeking guidance from Human Resources before approving a work location change for an employee and for updating the work location of his/her direct reports in Workday.

Printed copies are for reference only. Please refer to the electronic copy for the latest version.

8. Employees must promptly update his/her own payroll tax elections in Workday to reflect approved work location.
9. Employees are not permitted to perform work outside of the continental United States unless required to travel internationally for Premier's business needs. Exempt employees, however, may check email intermittently on a personal mobile device while on paid time off.
10. In exceptional circumstances, Premier's Vice President of Employee Relations or designee in concert with Premier's Chief Information and Security Officer and Chief Privacy Officer will consider exceptions to the prohibition on working outside of the continental United States if necessary for business continuity.

Information Security Requirements

11. Premier's Chief Information Security Officer is responsible for amendment, enforcement and interpretation of the following information security requirements set forth in this Policy.
12. Equipment supplied by Premier is maintained by Premier as per existing Information Security and Technology policies.
 - 12.1 When working remote, an employee must not disable any security controls, policies or software.
 - 12.2 The employee is responsible for returning the equipment to a Premier facility for repair or ongoing maintenance.
 - 12.3 Premier reserves the right to make determinations as to appropriate equipment.
13. Company laptops may only be used for business purposes using Premier business software and in a manner that complies with all Premier policies and procedures including the use of e-mail.
 - 13.1 Laptops may not be taken outside the continental United States unless an exception is obtained per item 10 above.
14. Remote employees must not attempt to connect non-Premier owned or managed devices to Premier's network. This includes attempting to VPN into Premier's network from a non-Premier-owned device.
15. Remote employees must ensure the protection of proprietary company and customer information. Required protections include:
 - 15.1 Use of locked file cabinets, disk boxes and desks for the proper storage of Premier Information.
 - 15.2 Hard drive encryption installed on the laptop.
 - 15.3 Locking or logging off of workstation while it will be unattended for an extended period of time.
 - 15.4 Adherence to password, logical security and backup policies. Refer to the Premier Data Stewardship Program - Part IV Technical Safeguards Policies.
 - 15.5 If using wireless internet to connect to the Premier network, utilization of a strong encryption method on the network being used.
 - 15.6 Use of a paper shredder for the destruction of hardcopy Premier information.
16. Remote employees who have access to customers/members' PHI must take extra precautions to protect confidentiality and ensure that PHI is protected in a manner that is consistent with Premier policies and procedures.
 - 16.1 Any unauthorized use or disclosure of PHI must be reported immediately in accordance with the Reporting a Suspected Security or Privacy Incident or Violation Policy and Procedure.

Printed copies are for reference only. Please refer to the electronic copy for the latest version.

- 16.2 Employees must not send unencrypted PHI or other confidential information over the public Internet. If job responsibilities require PHI to be transmitted, employees must use either secure e-mail or secure file transfer programs. These functions require special set up by IT Security and must be arranged through the IT Service Desk.

Work-Related Travel Outside of the United States

- 17. Employees required to travel outside the United States due to business needs must:
 - 17.1 Never bring or travel with his/her Premier-owned asset and/or laptop outside of the United States unless an exception is obtained in advance and in accordance with this Policy.
 - 17.2 Request and obtain approved virtual desktop software (i.e., Premier VDI, ZDesk, etc.) in advance of travel and conduct all work through Premier-owned virtual desktop.
 - 17.3 Ensure his/her VPN privileges have been removed/disabled.
 - 17.4 Never attempt to VPN into Premier's network from outside of the United States from any device.

Enforcement

Failure to comply with this Policy may, at the full discretion of Premier, result in sanctions, disciplinary or legal actions, and possible termination of employment in accordance with the Security and Privacy Violations and Sanctions Policy and Procedure.
