1. Purpose

To provide standards for the operation of Premier's WorkSmart Integrity HelpLine.

2. Scope

Applies to all workforce members of Premier, Inc. and controlled subsidiary companies ("Premier").

3. Definitions

Allegation or Report – An assertion by a workforce member or other third-party that he/she has knowledge of suspected unethical, illegal or suspicious activity by Premier workforce members or agents. Allegations may include both direct and indirect references to misconduct.

Need to Know – Absolutely necessary to conduct the investigation; required by law, regulation or company policy; necessary to protect the company's interests from immediate harm; necessary to take appropriate disciplinary action following the investigation.

Retaliation – Any action, statement or behavior that is designed to punish an individual for filing a compliance report, cooperating with a compliance investigation, seeking guidance regarding a compliance concern or to deter one from taking such action. Retaliation includes, but is not limited to, bullying, intimidation, adverse action against an employee regarding the terms and conditions of employment, such as termination, demotion, or suspension, as well as related threats of such actions.

Workforce Member – Any individual employee, contractor or consultant with logical and/or physical access to Premier information assets and resources.

POLICY

1. The WorkSmart Integrity HelpLine is a confidential third-party reporting portal that facilitates reporting of possible illegal, unethical or improper conduct as described in the Reporting a Compliance Concern or Issue procedure. Anonymous reports can be made. The WorkSmart Integrity HelpLine is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.
2. Premier prohibits any workforce member from being subject to harassment, disciplinary or retaliatory action by the company, or any of its workforce members or agents as a result of the workforce member's submission of their compliance concern or issue regarding potential violations of laws, regulations or company policies as outlined in the Non-Retaliation Policy.
3. Premier's Chief Ethics & Compliance Officer and Senior Director of Corporate Compliance receive all reports to the WorkSmart Integrity HelpLine. Direct access to the WorkSmart Integrity HelpLine database is restricted to these two individuals.
4. The Chief Ethics & Compliance Officer initiates investigations arising from WorkSmart Integrity HelpLine reports. The Chief Ethics & Compliance Officer may elect to conduct the investigation through the Corporate Compliance department directly, or to request that the investigation be conducted by a relevant functional department (e.g., Human Resources). In all cases in which the alleged report represents significant legal risks to the company, the Chief Ethics & Compliance Officer notifies General Counsel.

5. Information as to the existence and origin of an allegation is shared strictly on a “need to know” basis.
6. Individuals reporting suspected unethical, illegal or suspicious activity through the WorkSmart Integrity HelpLine are informed of the disposition to the extent permitted by law or otherwise appropriate under the circumstances. However, due to the confidential nature of such investigations, it may not be possible to provide specific details of the investigation or of the actions taken.
